

Could you be a Nuclear Education Trustee?

NET Nuclear
Education Trust

The Board of Trustees of the Nuclear Education Trust, currently consisting of six members, seek to recruit more members.

Trustees are charged with fulfilling the current purpose of the charity, which is to provide the public and decision makers with information about nuclear weapons, arms control and disarmament, defence and security and related issues. It does this through commissioning research and providing grants for award-winning educational materials that include an appropriately balanced range of viewpoints.

Trustees provide a non-executive oversight of all the charity's activities and ensure compliance with legal obligations. They also contribute to the development of strategy and the future vision of the charity.

Key person specifications

- Empathy with the Mission, Vision and Objectives of NET
- Commitment to, and an understanding of, diversity and equality

The Board is especially interested in recruiting board members with some of the following skills or experiences: fundraising and/or business experience related to project management; a Trades Union or Faith perspective; education, research or scientific background, media or charity experience.

The Trustees meet four times a year online plus one in-person meeting.
