

What does the Earth want?

14–16 August

An exploration with Paul Hodgkin, supported by Alex Wildwood

What does it mean to move from answering that of God in everyone to answering that of God in everything?

Join us for a weekend of reflection, exploration and worship as we consider how we might be led to live in these times of incipient collapse. Together, we will explore how our Quakerism may be changing, and what a spirituality fully embodied in the Earth might look like through both witness and worship.

Paul Hodgkin is a trustee of the Living Witness project and has contributed articles to the Friend exploring radical worship and witness, particularly over the past year.

Alex Wildwood co-authored Universe as Revelation: an eco-mystical theology for Friends with Jo Farrow in 2013 and has facilitated Quaker groups for more than three decades.

Cost: £330 per person deposit: £160 to secure your place

50% bursaries available for those who may need financial support.

For further information or to book your place, please contact:

Lauren Gledhill

Tel: 01235 868206

Email: admin@charneymanor.com

We look forward to welcoming you to Charney Manor.

www.charneymanor.com

Charney Manor, Charney Bassett,
Wantage, Oxfordshire OX12 0EJ